Marisa Perring AiFD,CFD

After attending and graduating from Phil Rulloda's Southern California School of Floral Design, I was hired on staff as an entry level designer at the flower shop he owns with his wife at Avante Gardens in 2001.

During this time I have competed in State and National competitions, inducted into the American Institute of Floral Design, published in a national floral magazine Flowers& and was on a TV reality show based on young and upcoming floral designers called "Making it Big".

Going on my 9th year as a professional floral designer, this year I pursued my business, Empora Floral Artistry and opened my own floral studio located in Brea, Ca.

As I begin this new journey, I hope to educate and inspire florists and our consumers with the true artistry we hold in floral design.
